STATEMENT

Professor John Moverley, Independent Chairman of the Amenity Forum, welcomed today's decision to renew approval of glyphosate for a further five years. It is an important active ingredient used in the amenity sector and has been proved to be safe to use following extensive analysis and review.

The Forum always advocates an integrated approach to weed control utilising all methods available, cultural, biological, mechanical and chemical. However glyphosate remains in many situations the most cost effective and efficient method ensuring safe, healthy and sustainable amenity spaces fit for purpose and keeping Britain moving.
